EMTEK

Few things showcase an eye for detail and complete a home's design theme like carefully coordinated materials and finishes. Enter Emtek, provider of custom door, cabinet and bath hardware. While recognized industry-wide for its endless range of products and high-quality finishes, Emtek prides itself on giving designers and homeowners the ability to customize their hardware to fit their personal design style. "There is no predetermined combination of knobs, levers, rosettes or finishes; we let the customer mix and match according to their own taste," vice president of sales and marketing Steve Kamp says. "We specialize in offering custom hardware configurations, such as split styles and split finishes, with short lead times and no additional upcharge." Every one of Emtek's custom orders is hand-assembled in Southern California and typically ships within two to three business days to decorative hardware dealers throughout North America.
